

MOVIES

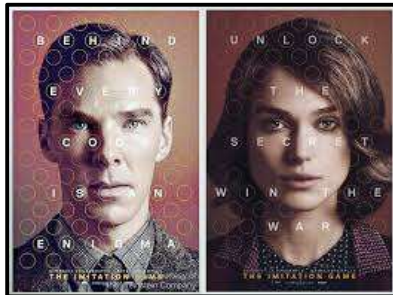

Ocean's 8 – 2018

Played by the legendary popstar Rihanna, the character nicknamed 'Nine Ball' is an expert hacker capable of hacking the Met Gala's security system. Yes, she's technically a criminal but she's still a stereotype-destroying boss who holds her own in a team of equally awesome ladies.

Black Panther - 2018

Shuri, portrayed by actress Letitia Wright, is the tech genius princess and head of Wakandan Design Group. She's a stand out character, portrayed with wit, intelligence and confidence, who is responsible for creating most of Wakanda's modern technology.

The Imitation Game – 2015

Joan Clarke was a real English cryptanalyst best known for her code-breaking work at Bletchley Park during the Second World War. Represented by Kiera Knightly, The Imitation Game shows Joan Clark outperforming all her male peers in trials of intellect and largely contributing to the construction of a machine which is historically considered the first electronic computer.

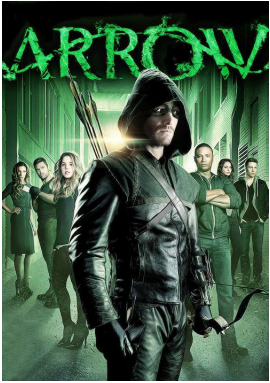

Hidden Figures - 2016

Hidden Figures tells the story of three real-life incredible mathematicians – Katherine Goble, Dorothy Vaughan and Mary Jackson – who worked at NASA during the space race. Their calculations took astronauts to space and back and advanced opportunities for African-American women in a time when sexism and racism was unfortunately rife.

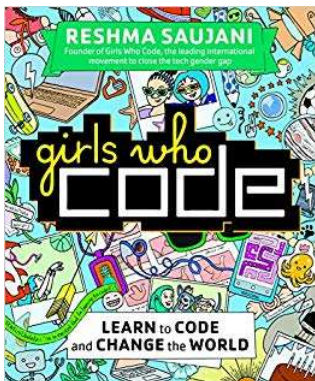

TV

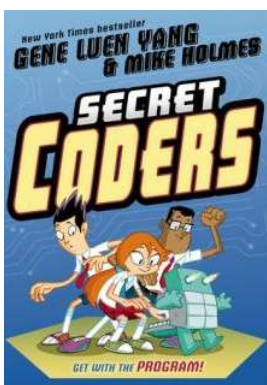

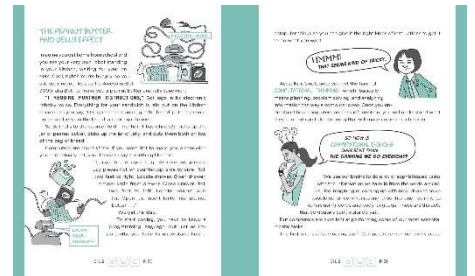

Arrow – Series 1 - 7
Felicity Smoak, codenamed Overwatch, is an IT genius and MIT Computer Science Graduate who works alongside superhero Green Arrow. She has an impressive CV having been the CEO of three! different technology companies. She also doubles as an invaluable hacker for Green Arrow's crime-fighting team and never falls too deep into 'damsel-in-distress' territory.

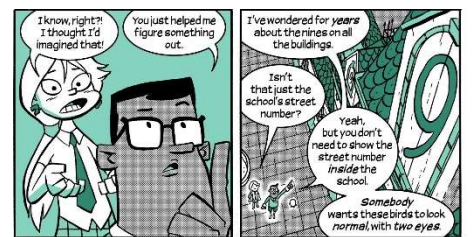

BOOKS
